Password

User Name

<<include>>   <<include>>

ID

Login

Authaciation

This is a simple use case diagram on how that you can get access to a program that needs you to login like.
You log in it is going to take your authorizations.
Then go to the login server and it will take your id.
Then it will go against the server for the username and password.